War or Peace?

RUSSIA DEMANDS TRIPLE WAR PACT

LONDON, April 21 (AP)—Soviet Russia has proposed resurrection of the Anglo-French-Russian triple entente of the World War, a highly authoritative source said today, as a bulwark against possible future aggression by Germany, Italy or Japan.

Such a recommendation of a flat reciprocal military alliance was said to have been made by Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff to Sir William Seeds, British ambassador in Moscow.

Both Britain and France, this informant said, have the proposal under serious consideration.

WANT JAP "SECURITY"

No official indication was given of the Anglo-French reply, but Britain, although favoring a less binding agreement, was believed to be ready to accept such a military alliance rather than lose Russia's support.

Moscow, having in mind the possibility of attack both by Germany in the west and Japan in the east, was said to have demanded full military support from Britain and France in return for her adhesion to the bloc of nations they are forming.

BLOCKED BY POLES

Although British officials were reported willing to accept Russian co-operation on a flat tripartite military alliance basis, it was feared here Rumania and Poland, now holding British-French guarantees of their independence, might block negotiations.

Russia formerly ruled parts of both these countries, and Poland and Rumanian officials feared any occupation of their territory by Russian troops might prove an embarrassement after any need of the aid of the Red army had passed.

Meanwhile, support of Turkey against the axis was said to have been all but officially promised.

FEAR OF REVOLUTION

(The Warsaw newspaper, Express Poranny, regarded as having close connections with the Polish foreign office, declared the belief today that Russian army aid in any long European war might create a danger of revolution for countries receiving it.

(The Soviet's counter proposals to London, the newspaper reported, included a demand that Britain and France also guarntee aid to Russia in case of Japanese aggression.)

KENNEDY HECKLED BY SCOTS

EDINBURGH, Scotland, April 21 (AP)—Two anti-Catholic demonstrators were ejected from Usher Hall today as they interrupted the ceremony in which United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy received the freedom of the city of Edinburgh.

John Cormack, leader of the Protestant Action Party in the Edinburgh Council, was removed for shouting "My lord provost, I protest!" as Kennedy was signing the burgess roll.

The other, a woman member of the party, later was ejected for shouting "No popery" from the gallery as Kennedy, a Catholic, was speaking.

The Protestant Action party holds five seats in the Edinburgh City Council, which has a membership of more than 70.

Kennedy traveled overnight from London and received the freedom of the city after Edinburgh University conferred on him an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Speaking at the Usher Hall ceremony, the ambassador said that though "covert warfare burns fitfully beneath the surface of international relationships throughout the world" there was consolation in that general war thus far had been avoided.

7 Secretly Indicted In Probe of Boston Liquor License Ring

Seven persons were secretly indicted today by the Suffolk County grand jury on charges of conspiracy growing out of the alleged fraudulent liquor license racket.

The racket is said to have been operated by a former employe of the Boston Licensing Board and certain well-known men about town.

These are the first indictments returned as the result of evidence presented to the grand jury by more than 50 persons during the past week.

Judge Frederick W. Fosdick received the indictments in Superior Court from the grand jury foreman and immediately informed William M. Prendible, criminal courts clerk, that no unauthorized person was to see them.

This, it was said at the courthouse, was an unusual precaution.

The grand jury, it was said by Assistant District Attorney Frederick T. Doyle, will return Monday, when more indictments will be sought.

It is understood that probably 12 persons in all will be indicted before the grand jury probe is completed and that indictments charging larceny also will be asked for.

Further it is understood that a woman well known in Boston night club circles is among those under scrutiny.

Roosevelt Visits Son in Virginia

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt left the White House today on a motor trip to Charlottesville, Va.

He planned to stay overnight with the junior Franklin D. Roosevelt's there and return to Washington tomorrow afternoon.

HURLEY SUED FOR $46,000

Former Governor Charles F. Hurley, it was learned today, has been named defendant in five suits, totaling $46,000, growing out of a traffic accident involving a Worcester sedan and a State Police truck in 1937.

Similar suits, in the same total, have been filed also in Worcester District Court against the truck driver, Louis P. Berube, mechanic, attached to the State Police barracks at Framingham.

GOING TO HURLEY HOME

The former governor, while not personally in the accident, is named as defendant on the allegation that the police truck was conveying lighting equipment to his home in Cambridge at his request.

The suits were revealed when papers in the Hurley action were forwarded by Hurley's counsel to At-

Blonde Holds Up 2 So She Can Go to Prison and Not Part Couple

PADUCAH, Ky., April 21 (AP)—An attractive blonde, who declined to reveal her true identity or her home address, awaited today to begin serving "what I wanted"—a 10-year prison sentence for attempting to hold up two women with a toy pistol in a theater.

The woman, listed as "Barbara Williams," 23, pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery without a deadly weapon in circuit court yesterday.

Later, in an interview, she said she came here for the express purpose of committing a crime and drawing a prison sentence so she might not interfere with the romance of a young couple in a "northern city."

She intimated she loved a man who loved another girl.

County Attorney John Kirksey said she admitted giving a fictitious name.

Flames Kill Woburn Baby, 2 N. H. Sisters

Three New England children suffered flaming deaths today; the four-year-old son of a Woburn dentist and two Newport, N. H., sisters.

Thomas J. Glennon, Jr., four-year-old son of a former Tufts College baseball star now a prominent Woburn dentist, was fatally burned after he became literally a "living torch" yesterday afternoon, it was revealed by his death today.

The boy, son of Dr. Thomas J. Glennon, teacher at Tufts dental clinic, was visiting the home of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Carroll, in Utica street, Woburn, when his clothes caught fire and were burned to his body.

Mrs. Carroll had been burning dead leaves and twigs in the yard when Thomas arrived with his mother, Mrs. Regina Glennon. The adults went into the house and young Thomas was left to play in the yard, where the small fire was still smoldering.

As he jumped among the embers the leg of his overals caught fire, and his mother and aunt were suddenly called to the yard by his anguished screams as he rolled on the ground.

He was rushed to Choate Memorial Hospital, where he was treated for third degree burns of the legs, thighs and hips.

Despite treatment, he died early today.

The oldest of three children, he has a three-months-old brother James, and a sister, Regina, 2½.

2 Sisters Die in Fire At Newport, N. H.

NEWPORT, N. H., April 21—Trapped in the blazing inferno of their second floor bedroom, two little sisters screamed vainly for help today before onrushing fames snuffed out their lives.

Anne Marie Scovill, 10, and her sister, Betty May, eight, died as the fire, apparently starting in the kitchen, enveloped the house.

Their widowed mother, Mrs. Florence Scovill, and a sister, Priscilla, 16, barely escaped flames as they raced from bedrooms on the ground floor.

Mrs. Scovill told authorities she was awakened by the dense smoke and found the kitchen in flames. She shouted a warning and climbed through a bedroow window to safety. Priscilla escaped through a front door.

Mrs. Scovill said she found the kitchen in flames and that the stairway led upstairs from the kitchen. So quickly did the flames spread the little girls had no chance to escape.

DEPUTY A SUICIDE

WESTFIELD, April 21 (AP)—The body of Deputy Sheriff Peter Jensen, Jr., 45, was found today in the garage of his home. Medical Examiner Edward S. Smith said death was suicidal from carbon monoxide.

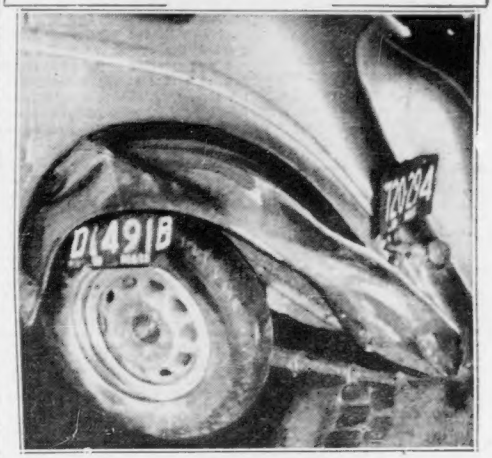
Camera 'Detective' On Job

HERE'S HIT-RUN CLUE



CAMERA SNAP OF WEDGED LICENSE PLATE

There it stuck—silent but damning evidence, furnished by a freak of fate.

And so today, because of a number plate which was ripped off a hit-and-run automobile and fatefully affixed itself to the car which had been struck, police were looking for a Dorchester man.

It was quite an exciting few minutes in the Arborway, Jamaica Plain, between Center street and Forest Hills, at 1:30 a. m., April 11.

Charles F. McGrath of Barham avenue, North Quincy, Boston Evening American printer and amateur photographer, swerved his machine as a car cut in dangerously close to him. Then he said some bad words, stepped on the gas and started in pursuit.

AH, THE CLUE!

Once he had been the victim of an auto accident and this one had been too close.

Only a few hundred yards up the road, and almost in front of the Arnold Arboretum main gate, the fugitive car overtook another auto, that of Raymond Poirier of Cambridge terrace, Allston.

The racing machine failed to clear Poiriers car. There was a crash and a grind and the clang of metal bumpers, then the wildly-driven auto ripped away and continued on.

But something caught the eye of McGrath, who was still pursuing. As another machine took up the chase after the hit and run driver, McGrath hopped out of his car, hauled his camera from the case, set a flash bulb and fired.

GIVES POLICE PHOTO

It was a perfect shot and it showed the left rear of Poirier's auto, with a dealer's license plate wedged between the twisted fender and the top of the tire.

It stuck out like a roadside stand.

McGrath, feeling no qualms, of course, in a hit and run case, turned a copy of his picture over to police. Special Officer Lawrence McNamara traced the plate to a Milton automobile dealer, who provided the officer with a name.

As a result, a warrant was obtained in West Roxbury court charging John McInnis, 35, of Whitfield street, Dorchester, said to be now a bus driver working out of New York, with operating negligently and leaving the scene of an accident.

Woman Juror Seeks to Adopt Prisoner's Son

KANSAS CITY, Kas., April 21 (AP)—Mrs. Velma Shane voted to send John Crawford to prison, then stepped from the jury box and offered to adopt his 13-year-old son, Jackie.

But Jackie rejected the offer today, saying he preferred to remain with neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merchant, who "would feel badly" if he was taken from them.

Crawford was convicted of manslaughter, which carries a 5-to-21-year sentence, in connection with the ax slaying of Byron Kirkpatrick, a fireman, Jan. 23. During the trial, Mrs. Shane, mother of a six-month-old baby, watched Jackie bravely keep back tears.

Despite her sympathy, she said, she "felt she was doing her duty in voting with the others to convict Crawford."

2 Boy Gunmen Hold Up Store In Roslindale

Two young bandits today forced Miss Patience Sullivan, 23, of Davidson street, Hyde Park, into the rear of Winfield's Cleanser Store, Washington street, Roslindale, while they rifled the till of $18.

Brandishing a revolver, the youngest said to the girl:

"Go into the back room and save yourself trouble."

As the girl complied, the other bandit opened the cash register. Miss Sullivan described one of the pair as 18 years old, six feet tal, wearing a blue coat and grey hat.

The other, she said, was about 19 years old and much shorter than his confederate. He wore a suede jacket and carried a nickel-plated gun, she told police.

MRS. RHODA DOUBLEDAY

Who Seeks $350,000

SOCIALITE NAMES HEIR AS ATTACKER

LOS ANGELES, April 21 (INS)—Testimony was on record today in Los Angeles that Rhoda Van Bibber Turner Doubleday, Santa Barbara socialite, named the son of a prominent California family as the man who attacked her in 1933.

The testimony came during Mrs. Doubleday's lengthy examination in her $350,000 lawsuit against Harold McCormack, heir to the McCormick harvesting machine fortune, a hospital and others, charging them with invasion of her privacy.

She claims they made public a record of an operation she says was necessitated by the attack, which occurred in her home.

In her testimony she told of attending a party at a Montecito night club and being driven home by the son of a "close personal friend," and of how he attacked her.

Oscar Lawler, attorney for McCormick, told the jury of seven men and five women hearing the case that his client was entitled to information as to the nature of Mrs. Doubleday's hospitalization because she subsequently sued the millionaire for breach of promise and the matter of "her vitue was material evidence in the case."

The trial was to be continued today.

Rain Feared Menace As N. E. Rivers Rise

A rainstorm within two days will seriously menace New England with floods, observers said today as they anxiously watched swollen streams seep over lowlands.

Heavy rains and melting snow have brought a belated threat to the Merrimac and Connecticut river valleys. These rivers are still rising toward a crest predicted within 24 hours.

At Lowell, the Merrimac river reached the spring freshet level, and was pouring over Pawtucket dam at a rate of 40,000 cubic feet per second. A rise to a 45,000 rate was predicted by midnight, some 57,000 cubic feet per second below the heights reached during the 1936 flood.

The first thaw of the season in New Hampshire mountain notches sent the Merrimack River mounting at Concord, N. H.

Archibald D. Ross, weather bureau meteorologist, said the river had apparently reached its crest this morning.

The Boston weather bureau, however, has posted no flood warnings as yet. Increasing cloudiness was predicted for New England today, followed by rainfall expected to be limited to showers.

At Lawrence the Merrimack river swirled into the basement of the Pacific Worsted Mill. It was 11½ feet above normal and rising an inch an hour.

Water was knee-deep in the basement of the Pacific Mill and 2½ feet from the basement windows of the American Woolen company's Ayer mill on the south side of the stream.

Employes of the Ayer mill began moving 500,000 pounds of wool from the basement to upper floors.

Major damage was caused in Charlestown, N. H., where Clay Creek tore out 150 feet of Boston and Maine Railroad tracks near its junction with the Connecticut.

Sleeping cars bound through White River Junction, Vt., to Montreal from New York will be detoured through Burlington, Vt.

Still rising at the rate of six hundredths of a foot an hour, the Connecticut reached 19.11 feet in Hartford today, three feet above flood stage.

A crest around 22 feet is expected tomorrow.

Lowlands were flooded.

Fair weather, with lower temperature in Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine, will tend to check the runoff of the rivers, it was said.

RISING BILLERICA FLOOD kept many homes isolated today while others took to water travel over inundated highways in borrowed boats and makeshift craft. With residents of the Riverview section already marooned runaway Concord River was closely watched

Infant's Body Found in Pond At Worcester

WORCESTER, April 21—Wrapped only in a handkerchief and then stuffed into four shopping bags, the body of an infant boy was found today floating near the east shore of Green Hill Park Pond.

According to Police Surgeon Joseph A. Scola, the baby, about three weeks old, had been dead for less than 24 hours.

Pending the arrival of Medical Examiner John C. Ward, however, the cause of death was not determined.

Edward Rochette, 12, of Channing street, was fishing in the pond when four youths came along and began to josh him about having no luck. Then they noticed his line near the bobbing paper parcel.

Dominick Bizzaro, 23, of Providence street, fished the parcel ashore, and there the body fell out.

Widow to Face Jury In Poison Death Case

FITCHBURG, April 21—Garbed in black that marked her pallor the more strongly, grim and tight-lipped, Mrs. Victoria LeFebvre, 53, sat stolidly in crowded district court here today and listened quietly to the government's charge that she murdered her bridegroom of a few months.

Special Justice Aubrey Z. Goodfellow declined jurisdiction at the arraignment and ordered the woman held for the grand jury session that will sit May 8 at Worcester. Mrs. LeFebvre's counsel, Attorney William W. Buckley of Worcester, waived examination.

Assistant District Attorney A. Andrew Gelinas immediately launched into the prosecution's statement.

WED LAST OCTOBER

Before an audience, occupying every seat and standing along the walls, Gelinas read:

"Mrs. LeFebvre married Florient LeFebvre, 58 years old, in Fitchburg last October 20. He was a blacksmith by trade. After a short honeymoon the couple moved to his farm on Fitchburg road, Ashburnham, where they set up housekeeping.

"There were frequent marital rifts after a few months.

"On January 16, Mrs. LeFebvre went to the Primeau pharmacy on Main street, in Fitchburg, and told the clerk she wanted to kill her dog. He suggested she get the Fitchburg dog officer to do the job for her, but she said her husband wanted it done himself.

"Then the clerk suggested she rig up a carbon monoxide death chamber, using the exhaust of her auto, but she refused that.

"SAID DOG DEAD"

"Finally, the talk came to poison, and the clerk made up a compound of sulphate and strychnine. The next day she brought the bottle back and said the dog was dead.

"On January 21 a man went to the LeFebvre farm to get Florient to do a blacksmith job. That was between 5 and 5:30 p. m., and at that time the husband was well.

"Between 6:15 and 6:20 two Winchendon men passing in a truck, saw a woman in the doorway waving a handkerchief, and when they stopped she cried: 'My husband is dying.'

"They went into the house, where they found Florient LeFebvre lying on the couch, cold, blue and quiet. They called Dr. John Mason, who pronounced the man dead and who informed Dr. Cornelius E. Gray, medical examiner. To his surprise, Dr. Gray found, on his arrival, that rigor mortis had already set in.

ANALYSIS-FINDING TOLD

"On the order of the district attorney's office, the organs were sent to the state police laboratory in Boston, where analysis revealed strychnine in the stomach and organs, enough to kill several men."

No witnesses were called at the session.

State Detectives Edward J. McCarthy of Worcester and Joseph Ferrari of Boston were in charge of the investigation leading to Mrs. LeFebvre's arrest.

Since her arrest she has steadfastly declared her innocence.

Knox Murder Trial Drawing Near End

A parade of government rebuttal witnesses appeared on the stand in Suffolk court today in the trial of George T. Knox, former state trooper charged with murder of Mrs. Helen Darragh Dale.

Defense Counsel James J. McGrail and Assistant District Attorney Edward M. Sullivan said they would complete all testimony this afternoon and end the case Monday.

Miriam F. Mullens, City Hospital nurse, testified that when Mrs. Dale appeared at the hospital in January, 1936, after having been found on a fire escape, she had talked brightly about lipstick brands and had not mentioned suicide.

Dr. Louis Samuel Chase, admitting physician at the hospital at that time, said when he saw Mrs. Dale her eyes were swollen and her cheeks discolored, and that he had ordered she be given three doses of formaldehyde.

"That might have given her a 'formaldehyde jag,'" he said.

Sergt. Edward J. Seiboldt, ballistics expert of the Boston police department, appeared on the stand for the third time to describe how powder burns would appear on the hand of a person firing a gun.

When McGrail asked that Sergt. Seiboldt describe the results of an experiment made at police headquarters, there was a bench conference and the case adjourned for an interval.

Knox himself was expected to be called later.

O'Brien Revere Trial May 1

Former Mayor James O'Brien of Revere will go to trial May 1 in Suffolk Court on three charges of stealing $15,697.80 from the city of Revere, it was announced today.

JOBLESS CLAIMS TAKE HUGE JUMP

The greatest increase in the number of claims for unemployment compensation since February of 1938 was reported today for the week ending April 12, 1939, by the state division of unemployment compensation.

The department said 13,652 claims had been filed, of which 73 per cent were from persons who had asked aid before. The Lawrence office reported an increase of 70 per cent over the preceding week and 250 per cent over the last two weeks of March.

32 MILLIONS PAID

Other stations where the rise was very sharp included Pittsfield, Chicopee, East Boston, Dudley Street, Codman Square, Forest Hills, Malden, Woburn, Marlboro, Quincy, Fall River, and New Bedford.

Payments are expected to increase in proportion to the claims filed within a few weeks, though only $364,280 was paid out last week, a slight decrease. So far, $32,864,641 has been paid out since compensation started January 30, 1938.

SUBPOENA RECORDS

A new system of subpoenaing employers' records also was announced today by J. Edwin Doyle, division director.

"We have resorted to subpoenas in order to make it as easy as possible for these people, we have enclosed wage report blanks," Doyle said.

"All they have to do is to fill them and return them and the cause for the hearing is eliminated.

"We have approximately 1150 persons who are entitled to benefits who cannot be paid until the records are complete. It is working a hardship on these people unnecessarily."

HUNTED by police and neighbors today was Gerald Brussco of Philadelphia.

1ST LADY TO ATTEND NEPHEW'S RITES HERE

Funeral services for Daniel S. Roosevelt, 21, one of two victims of an airplane wreck in Mexico on Tuesday, will be held in Dedham tomorrow afternoon, according to an announcement today by his mother, Mrs. John B. Cutter, who said Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President, would attend.

Mrs. Cutter said Mrs. Roosevelt, who is a sister of G. Hall Roosevelt of New York, father of the young man and former husband of Mrs. Cutter, had telegraphed she would be present at services.

The rites will be held at 3:30 p. m., E. S. T., at St. Paul's Church, Dedham, with the rector, Rev. Thomas H. Chappell, officiating. After cremation, private burial services will be held in Mount Auburn Cemetery in Cambridge.

U.S. ACTION IN COAL STRIKE DUE

WASHINGTON, April 21 (INS)—President Roosevelt indicated today that the federal government may intervene in the deadlocked soft coal negotiations in New York which have kept 320,000 union miners idle and left the nation faced with a possible coal shortage.

The President said at his press conference that he understood there was a statute empowering the government to call a meeting in an effort to bring about a settlement.

That, he added, would be the next step in the move to arbitrate the differences between the Appalachian soft coal operators and the United Mine Workers of America.

The President has been kept closely advised of the attempt by Department of Labor mediators to bring the soft coal operators and miners together on a renewal of their wage-hour contract which expired March 31.

New Parley May End Fuel Tieup

With a definite agreement expected within 24 hours, committees of employers and truck drivers resumed negotiating at an unannounced meeting place today in a fresh attempt to solve the 10-day fuel tieup in Greater Boston.

Raymond V. McNamara, acting chairman of the state board of conciliation and arbitration, appeared optimistic as the negotiating committee began consideration of a new peace proposal submitted by him.

"We are very hopeful of a settlement," he said.

Meanwhile, the 30 members of the crew of the tanker Thomas H. Wheeler walked ashore when the ship arrived at Colonial Beacon wharf in Everett, in support of the National Maritime Union's strike against the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

The Wheeler is the fourth tanker to be tied up in Boston by the seamen's strike.

Union officials hailed the decision of Judge Franklin T. Hammond in Middlesex superior court denying an application by the Everett Fuel Company of Everett for an injunction against the union's picket line. The court ruled that the "baby Wagner act" passed last year provided for such a line.

POLICE TOLD OF MATCHES IN JAIL FIRE

WORCESTER, April 21—John Raskett, 28, only one of four inmates in the underground section to escape alive from the Worcester County jail fire, admitted today, according to police, he had matches and a cigarette in his "dungeon" cell.

Raskett alleged told Police Lieutenant James F. Sheehan at City Hospital that the cigarettes and matches were given him by a jail runner.

Both Sheehan and Deputy Fire Chief Fred S. Taylor have discounted a theory that an electrical short-circuit started the fire which took the lives of three prisoners and have declared that only matches or a cigarette could have been responsible.

TRIPLE PROBE ON

State Fire Marshal Stephen C. Garrity advanced the short-circuit theory after he conducted a five-hour probe.

He ordered his department to investigate all sources which might indicate faulty wiring in the 120-year-old jail.

Three separate investigations by state and county officials were under way today as a result of the blaze.

One probe was launched by Commissioner of Corrections Arthur T. Lyman. Deputy Commissioner Frank Dwyer went to Worcester to investigate while the blaze was still in progress.

GUARDS RISK LIVES

The county commissioners, called by Chairman Elbert M. Crockett of Milford, and state fire marshal's office, through Inspector Stephen Garrity, joined in the investigations.

Guards and trusties, many of whom risked their lives in attempts to drag the suffocated men to safety, were absolved from blame by Sheriff H. Oscar Rocheleau, head jailer.

The dead men were:

Walter Sumpter, 66, Negro, of West Boylston, admitted only a few hours before the fire; Thomas Makla, 67, of Gardner, both admitted on minor charges, and Antonio Dosti, 18, of Rouyne, Can., awaiting trial on a larceny charge.

CHIEF OVERCOME

Deputy Fire Chief Taylor, who, with a dozen other firemen, was overcome while fighting the hot blaze, said "careless use of matches by prisoners" started the fire.

Trapped in the close confines of the cell, which was rapidly being turned into a fiery furnace, Raskett was saved by the quick action of Guard Joseph Peters of Worcester, one of the three jailers on night duty.

CALL NEW HEARINGS ON BRIDGES

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Perkins said today she had ordered the immigration service to proceed with a hearing of deportation charges against Harry Bridges, West Coast CIO director.

The charges include one that Bridges is a Communist.

The secretary told a press conference hearing would determine whether Bridges was a member of the Communist party in the light of the Supreme Court's recent decision that previous membership was not grounds for deportation.

Asked how the Supreme Court's ruling would affect the deportation case against Bridges, Miss Perkins said:

"We don't think it would be futile to continue with the Bridges case, but the evidence has to be examined at a hearing."

The Bridges case, which started in March, 1938, when the Australian-born CIO leader was served with a deportation warrant in Baltimore, has been suspended pending the Supreme Court ruling in the Joseph G. Strecker case. In that case the labor department endeavored to deport Strecker, even though he claimed to have resigned from the Communist party.

Warrants O. K., Says Governor

Signatures on warrants in the office of George F. Murphy, state comptroller, are in perfect order, Governor Saltonstall announced today.

An investigation of signatures was made by handwriting experts of the State Public Safety Department at the governor's request.

"Of the signatures examined by experts of the Public Safety Department, only one warrant was found that was not signed by Mr. Murphy and in that instance he gave authority for the signature to be made," said the governor.

Wife Slain In Triangle Row

EDINBURG, Tex., April 21 (AP)—Mrs. Velma Montague, socially prominent wife of an Edinburg physician, was slain and P. C. Humphrey, San Antonio salesman, wounded in a country roadside shooting last night.

District Attorney Tom Hartley said Dr. L. J. Montague, husband of the slain woman and superintendent of the County-City Hospital, voluntarily appeared at the county jail.

Mrs. Montague was shot as she sat in her automobile four miles north of here. Humphrey made his way to a nearby Mexican residence and was hurried to the hospital with a shattered left arm and a wound in the left side.

Long Hose Lines Laid At Quincy Blaze

One quarter mile, down lanes, over fields and through buildings, Quincy firemen today laid hose to battle a fire that threatened dredges and ships tied up at the drydock of the Quincy Yacht and Drydock Corporation.

According to fire officials, the blaze started in a dredge in the yard of the Packard Dredging Company, part of the drydock company premises, where workmen were using acetylene torches. Flames were fed by oil and grease. Damage was estimated at $1000.

BOMBERS OFF TO FIGHT FOE

With a mysterious foreign air armada reported taking off the eastern Maine coast, the world's greatest combined army, navy and coast guard forces took to the air in a mass maneuver at dawn today when bombers soared over New England cities.

Iron secrecy kept today's manoeuvres just as dark as the air raids on Pearl Harbor fortresses last night which 28 planes from Rhode Island airport and Newport naval air station joined.

The flying fortresses of the crack bombardment group stationed at the Hulls Grove, R. I., State airport today to repel an "attack" by the joint army-navy war games. Major General Hugh A. Drum, commander of the air forces in the Island, said the air armada was headed toward the Massachusetts coast off Boston.

Ethereal and teletype messages controlled activities of air squadrons at East Boston, Hillgrove, R. I. and Mitchell Field, N. Y., the squadrons from Salem and Coast Guard base reserve forces from Squantum and navy planes from Newport increased the armada.

Hitler, Duce in New Pledges of Support

BERLIN, April 21 (AP)—Messages published today showed that Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini exchanged assurances on the Reichsfuehrer's 50th birthday yesterday that the friendship between their two countries could not be disturbed by enemies of

They were disclosed while Hitler turned from his birthday festivities to the drafting of the Reichstag speech with which he will reply one week from today to President [illegible]'s non-aggression proposals.

PLEDGE FRIENDSHIPS

A lengthy telegram Mussolini had sent partner that the friendship between Rome and Berlin "which has withstood many tests cannot be disturbed by the recurring ridiculous attempts of our enemies."

Some time they will have to convince themselves," Il Duce telegraphed, "that they are following a false course because fascism and National Socialism (Nazism) are the way of justice and peace."

Fuehrer thanked Mussolini and replied:

With thanks I bring anew the assurances of my indestructible friendly ties with you and the Fascist Italy created by you, as well as my best wishes."

Hen Lays 12 Eggs In Day, Drops Dead

PORTALES, N. M., April 21 (AP)—When Robert Lehow's buff leghorn hen laid two normal eggs in one morning he was mighty proud of his hard working biddy.

During the afternoon she ran her total for the day up to a dozen, Lehow reported, but each egg was smaller and had a softer shell than the one preceding.

After laying the final egg, the hen fell dead.

PEACE

Strike against war is the subject of this picture from the University of Chicago where Senator Gerald P. Nye addressed a student gathering. He charged that the nation is being "keyed up" in such a way that entry into another war may be easy.

Fear of war is shown in the faces of this crowd which gathered outside the House of Commons in London awaiting the word from Premier Chamberlain, who pledged aid to Rumania and Greece in the European war crisis

"WAS IT FAIR to cut our salaries?" asks an open letter [illegible] Legislators in Boston Hall. And, last mybeth [illegible] "NO, priest! NO!"

The Boston Senators and Representatives' compensation is be[illegible] recent adoption of biennial sessions. [illegible] $2000 a year, or $4000 for [illegible] Now, convening every other year, the $4000 will be [illegible] $2000.

The [illegible] legislators propose increasing the [illegible] $4000. A few more moderate, would be content [illegible] $3,500.

Before biennial sessions became the law of the Commonwealth, Massachusetts compensation of its law makers was exceeded only in New York's $2500. Ohio also paid $2000 a year. But the other 46 States got by with considerably LESS.

Now, if our Senators and Representatives succeed in giving themselves a wage boost to $4000 for one year's work they will receive more than legislators in any other State. Statistics provide interesting proof.

For two years' service, Illinois pays legislators $3500. Pennsylvania follows with $3000. California and Wisconsin are next with $2400. New Jersey, Missouri, Iowa, Mississippi, Arkansas, Colorado and Texas draw $1000.

Then the compensation sinks rapidly until we find solons in Connecticut, Washington, Florida, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota and Utah collecting less than $400.

And for the record that various Massachusetts legislators want $4000 their brother law-makers in Alabama subsist on the record "fee" of $100.

TREASURY WATCHDOGS do not always "watch," [illegible] is the indication of Boston City Council attendance records.

Last year the Council president appointed a committee of seven members to study the Mayor's budget and to swing the economy axe at [illegible] evidences of extravagance. The committee cannot increase any item, but it is supposed to recommend decreases. Because of this duty the group of seven is popularly known as the "Watchdogs of the Treasury."

This year however only two "watchdogs"—Chairman Peter F. Dear Prince of Back Bay and Councilor William A. Carey of Roxbury—attended the committee's sessions.

Councilor James M. Langan of Jamaica Plain was absent for a short period, but only because his law practice made it imperative that he be somewhere.

Councilors Henry Lee Shattuck of Back Bay and George F. McMahon were present more often than Councilor Sidney Rosenberg of Dorchester, who [illegible] failed to attend most of the deliberations.

The seventh member, Councilor Clement A. Norton of Hyde Park, was at the [illegible] session this week.

MR. FRED HAMBLIN, manager of the Boston Auto[illegible] Club, wants to know whether Bay State people can afford to pay a [illegible] tax on gasoline?

The [illegible] Administration's efforts to find money to make the budget appear less lop-sided inspires the question.

What particularly [illegible] Mr. Hamblin is the fact that Massachusetts motorists are already paying the Federal and two State taxes on the fuel they [illegible] consume.

"The motorists in this section have no extraordinary ability to satisfy the greed of government," he says. "A majority of them earn less than $30 a week. They share the burden of general taxation just as do other taxpayers. When then, should they be singled out to pay a 4-cent tax?"

When [illegible] Tax Act [illegible] it was supposed to be [illegible] But [illegible] was easily collected, politicians discovered [illegible] tax.

And even if the [illegible] a few alterations in the law will [illegible] the staggering total of $41,250,000 a year from Massachusetts motorists.

The [illegible] gasoline tax increase, excise payroll [illegible] BUT IT DOES NOT INCLUDE THE [illegible] OF COMPULSORY INSURANCE!

BEACON HILL HAILS an un-pie proposal. Conservative [illegible] Dean's endorsing the reorganization [illegible] OWN Government. The action is the first of its kind in [illegible] history.

But [illegible] you opened, listen! The Dean plan would cost the taxpayers $6,000,000 a year more than the amount now spent for [illegible] Work, Parks, Mums and Forests.

But [illegible] and Progressives say it is good, despite the [illegible] would expose [illegible] to [illegible] by [illegible] Democrats.

The [illegible] for [illegible] the fact that it would require [illegible] to [illegible] reorganization proposals.

Human Side of News -r- by EDWIN C. HILL

CANADA'S Doukhobors, one of the strangest religious sects under the sun, are [illegible] us only recently. Their new leader is Peter Verigen III, who is [illegible] Russia. The new chief of the [illegible] is the grandson of Peter Verigen I and the [illegible] of [illegible].

In the meantime, a grandson of Peter Verigen II, Leon Verigen, who is chief of the 30-year old Russian sect, which [illegible] 40 years ago, this year [illegible] in Vancouver and [illegible] and through thrift and hard work has built a property [illegible] canneries and [illegible] valued at $2[illegible].

THEY have been good citizens on the whole, yet troublesome because of their [illegible] and frequent clashes with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. They keep the mounted police on the run, leading mile parades of bewhiskered farmers and their families when the Mounties should have been [illegible] their men in the [illegible] manner.

The Doukhobors are of ancient Tartar stock, starting as a my[illegible] religious cult early in the 18th century. In their early days they were driven off their lands into the Caucasus, and then bounded around Asia and finally to islands of the Mediterranean, not so much on account of their peculiar ideas about clothes but on account of their unorthodox ideas of God. But through all this persecution, their band was strangely persistent.

There are about 15,000 of them in Canada now. They were and are [illegible] forbidding musical instruments and games of all kinds.

Broadway Medley

FOUND: "RHINESTONE IN THE ROUGH"

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, April 21.—An intoxicated poet was arguing with Dorothy Parker at 4 a.m. Down but not dazed by the drinks he had consumed, he pointed to a pert and pretty girl. . . . "Look at him," Dorothy stated. "A rhinestone in the rough."

CHARLES Hart, lyricist with Oscar Hammerstein 2d, Richard Rodgers and Moss Hart, is writing the book and lyrics for a musical comedy to be produced by Billy Rose next season. . . . Hart's wife, actress Kitty Carlisle, is also writing a book and lyrics for a musical comedy. . . . Before they married, Hart and Miss Carlisle had agreed that they would not work together professionally. . . . Love finally won out.

KATHARINE CORNELL

WANDA Hendrix, the new Katharine Cornell discovery, is playing Juliet at the Regent 4-9977. "Why did you select that number?" Sam Behrman, the playwright, asked the producer. . . . "Well," he said, "it's the kind of number I'd like to have if I were a man about town."

LILLIE Langtry, who married Hugo Gerald Baron de Bathe, Lord Mayor of Westminster, and Prince Louis of Battenberg, father of Lord Mountbatten, recently told Lord Mountbatten's wife that her husband's father was not the baron but Lillie's lover, Prince Louis. . . . Lillie also claimed that fifteen per cent of the prisoners are of Danish extraction. "How many Danes are now held in New York Jails?" the publicist asked. . . . "Offhand," Marcus informed, "I'd say 350." . . . "But that's impossible," said the publicist. "It can't be true about the Danes" . . . "Oh, did you say DANES?" asked the official. "I thought you said DAMES."

HARRY Antrim, a vaudeville actor for many years, was the host at Sardi's Gaiety Deli to Bill Robinson, veteran colored tap dancer. Robinson, who is 67, was walking with his father when a beggar asked for alms. "Here's a five-frame piece," the father said, handing the coin to the boy. "Give it to the blind man" . . . The boy obeyed, and the beggar's cup and returned it. . . . "Next time," the elder Gadsby admonished, "you should tip your hat when a beggar says 'thank you.' That's the polite way." . . . "But why?" the lad protested. "He couldn't see it. He's blind." . . . "Yes," retorted Robinson's father, "but maybe he's only pretending."

AWAITING Mayor Wagner's call, Mrs. Westcott of "The Boys From Syracuse" was ready for an appointment. She couldn't find her new hat and so she snatched a veil from an old hat and the flowers from one of her dresses, pinned them together and placed it atop her head. . . . Mrs. Westcott then went to Armandos and won the $50 first prize for the most unusual dressed woman there.

By GEORGE HOLLAND

REPORTS THAT GOOD FOOD AT SALTON SEA, and plenty of it, were the order of the day were borne out after a recent visit to the resort area. . . . The Governor came and so did many prominent citizens. . . . The president of a famous food concern decided to drive down on the spur of the moment. . . . He was accommodated, easily.

THE PETER LEE Lawford-Sydney Lord and Lydia Lopokova-Lord Keynes romance in Miss Bagby's boarding house continues to baffle the entire set.

The latest is a report that Lydia, who is in Miss Bagby's boarding house with Lord Keynes, one of the Latin Quarter girls, Lydia is leaving May 1st for a two-week engagement in Detroit, prior to her World's Fair engagement. But Maestro Waters will have to present Lydia a bon voyage and the back of a truck he has. The last report found the fun-loving pixie from Siberia busy at the Bronx Arts Ball. . . . Her terms were for free as they saw in Harlem.

Poor Lou Gehrig didn't even bring wireless to the pleasant atmosphere of cruising. . . . He's been lonesome on the Yankees' Jeep. Man, that ain't funny in modern parlance. . . . Mrs. Lou flies aboard your ship at the next port of call, to see that he's O.K.

LAVE WILSON BROUGHT BACK a bit of a cause celeb from Florida. . . . The pair were down on the island when the news broke that Lave was off to place a $200 bet over in vain. . . . He waved his dream at the sender and the wireless stated: Soberly the drama had at once. . . . "All right smarty," said the nebriate "I'll just hang on to this and I don't need the ticket anyway." . . . Well the other's loss! So what do you suppose he got? With a triumphant jump at the bar's scene he threw up his two-dollar bill.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY. Virginia Sturdy, the Swoon's girl, is now working in the New York colored circuit with the Nat T. Gentry-Wendell Ewer unit. . . . Hal Owen is in Gotham today to sign the name of his client, James Barton, to a contract to play the Hotel Essex on July 16th. . . . A first reading of the comedy by the first-named critter to give it, Frank Merlo and Hiram Hale will get it off at the Forrest Thursday. . . . The new Ina Ray Hutton show is ticket agency Herricks, Mann & Levy, which is working in several smart box offices. . . . The Herricks have been booking the dressiest theatre parties in town. . . . Box office men report that Mr. Goldstein of Providence is said to be the payer.

GEORGE WHITE'S IMPENDING Scandals will be looked at the Colonial Theater tomorrow by tentative arrangements. . . . And another new Vernon Freeday musical, aimed at the World's Fair trade may play Boston before the season opens. . . . New York locals may protest that they are not exciting resident patrons in favor of the transient trade, and its larger tariffs. But they can feel that. . . . Saroyan will not be Jimmy Fidler the Boston boy who has been living in Manhattan. . . . The Times Square inn where James was residing did not request his departure. . . . The management simply raised his room rent from $7.00 to $10.00 a month.

'PINAFORE' DELIGHTS

'Cox and Box' Shares Honors

By PEGGY DOYLE

"H M S Pinafore" and "Cox and Box" will share the honors on the Queen's Navy tonight and tomorrow night when the Boston Opera Company presents a Gilbert and Sullivan program at the Colonial.

Warren Sumner's Cox and Colman Box and their adventures get started up at Lord's pretty soon, but it doesn't do any harm to suggest that possibly some audiences need warming up the customers for that prime favorite, Pinafore.

Marvin Green's expressively animated Sir Joseph Porter K C B who when the breezes blow generally goes below and seeks the seclusion that a cabin grants, dominates the production.

There is only one who is not stirred by his charm but captivating jigging his benign gallantries. Josephine the fairly desirable daughter of the captain of the Pinafore does not take kindly to the marriage proposal. For her heart belongs to Ralph Rackstraw, a common sailor. But at her father's beseeching she agrees to repulse the sailor and accept Sir Joseph's attentions.

And so she sings when Ralph Rackstraw next presses his suit:

"Refrain, audacious tar, your suit from pressing; Remember what you are; and whom and dressing."

She sings her part though when she observes Ralph Rackstraw [illegible]

B. C. Society's Cast Renews 'Second Spring' Triumph

Last February the Boston College Dramatic Society presented two performances of Emmet Lavery's "Second Spring," a premiere production that won for the group and the author unconditional praise from all sides.

Last night at the Majestic Theater the same players performed in a return engagement of this unusual play and earned for themselves even greater laurels.

A historical pageant in which the great figures of the Victorian era parade in all their greatness and eccentricity, the play depicts the inner mental struggle of John Henry Newman, beloved Empire figure from the days as leader of the Oxford Movement to his death as a Cardinal of the Roman Catholic Church.

With this fact as dramatized by Lavery, conflict with Cardinal Henry Edward Manning, Newman's mental [illegible] Manning tells another story of Triumph, 13 scenes beautifully presented. Arthur Lavery wisely chose for the pattern in which Newman attains eternal redemption and Manning forgiveness.

The entire cast portrayed difficult roles with amazing facility, but included Peggy Beadles in the two protagonists of Kelly Lavery, Wadsworth Gladstone Pope Leo XII and Waterman.

William Goulding, as Newman, and Edward Rooney as Manning, gave acting performed in a spirit that would have done justice to leading professional thespians.

Robert Henderson, Frank Donovan, Constantine Pappas and Delphis Duquette, to mention a few, gave most capable performances.

In keeping with the spiritual and mental feeling that pervades the plays the settings and lighting are completely appropriate in scheme and color.

The play, which certainly deserves greater recognition, was directed by Rev. John L. Bonn, S. J. Proceeds from its performance last night and tonight and tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock will be used as a fund for the Pro Parvulis Book Club in establishing an annual Father Finn medal to be presented each year to the writer of the best children's book.—A. Jungle Film Epic Tops Beacon Bill

Dark Rapture," the film that was made in the Belgian Congo and is an incredibly intimate account of life in the inaccessible jungle depths comes to the Beacon and Globe Theaters' screens tomorrow.

A featured role in this unusual drama is played by a jungle king whose wives number 440.

Showings of "Dark Rapture" will be continuous at both movie houses from 9 a. m. to 11 p. m.

At New Gayety

New Gayety week-end picture is "Tarnished Angel," with Sally Eilers, Lee Bowman and Ann Miller. It is said to be inspired by a famous West Coast lady evangelist. On the same bill is "Disbarred," with Gail Patrick, Robert Preston and Otto Kruger.

BRADSHAW
N. E. Sets Example In Cooperation

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

Those who seek evidence of business cooperation need not leave the New England area . . . For here is found one of the finest instances of its kind . . . representing a completely unselfish effort to render public service without hope of gain . . .

It is the dissemination by leading corporations of the advantages offered investors and traders by the Boston Stock Exchange. In common with many others we knew of the efforts to publicize the exchange made possible by executives in Boston odd lot orders in stocks listed elsewhere. But when the exchange's director of public relations Robert F. Gould summed up to his friends what he really has been to appreciate the extensive and extensive leader. Now I learned interests were extending. It is really extensive . . . and will with every dividend check sent to stock- ders.

INFORMED . . . Of the service possible, by a confidential corporation accompanying notices and dividends from their company. There is no doubt that many stockholders have profitably taken advantage of odd trading facilities. And the many financial concerns having just business and others cooperating to offer such just expert information at any hour . . . would in what we call unselfish public service. One for which they are entitled to much praise. Of the 1,000,000 then sales there stockholders money, received a good section and its workers and over the stamp tax collectors of the state.

FACTS AND FANCY . . . Despite an ordinary new steel ore market tonnage forecasted by war talk. The fancy is what we have seen lately is dressing pessimistic over the war-scare arouse. The fact is what happened back in '14 . . . Exports soared by July 31 were of J. S. Bache & Co. Boston office principal for their historical value, also, disprove of distorted ideas as to what happened when war did break out. . . . Using closing prices of July 14, 1914, high and low bid and asked quotations from the famed New Street Market and closing prices of December 31, 1914 the latter prices comparative, four landmarks were not as great as many suppose . . .

SOMETIMES . . . A new car, checking saves money as well as wear and tear on the nerves . . . It may be passing thanks to know what General Electric actually did as the prices war period. On July 14 it closed at 163 . . . On December 31 the final price was 159 . . . And during the shutdown of the exchange the New Street Market high bid was 147 . . . And its low bid was 140 . . . Other orders executed compared even closer . . . And after studying these behavior as outlined in the table Mr. Dewey says he was excited help but wonder if demand for markets have further gone a bit too hysterical . . .

STATE STREETERS . . . Note that William L. Gray, of the First National Bank of Boston, is a director for the Banking Association for Foreign Trade . . . Which he is seventeenth annual meeting at Fifth Ave. Savoy-Plaza Hotel, New York, on April 27-28 . . . When various speakers are scheduled to probe into the import and effect of liberalized exchange grabs practiced by European dictator on international banking and trade . . .

Profit Taking Halts Attempt To Extend Rise

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—The stock market crawled ever in uneven, terrain today as efforts to extend the recent jump met with a new profit taking opposition.

Price changes on the whole were small and, from the standpoint of amplitude, rather feeble when the exceptional weakness of dealings was taken into consideration. Advances just matched next few issues lost.

Where foreign affairs appeared a bit less distressing many were not sure and there was a lessening in the interest shown in speculative issues. Trading kept comparatively active, however, pointing to some real war in buying that had ceased.

Steel were attracting fairly wide support during some periods of fresh strength developed.

Motors, a group that had been under the lash of the bears a week ago, were also in demand, but the gains just made topped the previous day's gains—to be explained by a lessening pressure of prospective weather.

Rubbers were the weakest division, with Goodyear and U. S. Rubber preferred showing losses of around a point. Evidence on prompt deliveries stressing thinness of inventories in many cases.

Reflecting partly the rapidly expanding gold stocks of the United States, the Federal Reserve statement for the week ended Wednesday showed excess reserves of member banks jumped $120,000,000 to a new record peak of $6,000,000. At the same time [illegible] were up $1,000,000.

RUKEYSER
Washington Alters Economic Policy

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER
International News Service Economic Commentator

NEW YORK, April 21 — Approval by Secretary Hull of tentative and limited barter plans for disposing of surplus cotton and wheat marks a turning point in the international economic policy of the Roosevelt administration.

Back in 1937 when George N. Peek was special foreign trade adviser to President Roosevelt who within the administration there were a variety of divided controversies on this subject.

Mr. Peek an economic nationalist defended the Ludwell-Bingham New View proposing Latin dollar Secretary Hull and the international-minded advisers opposed such approaches to foreign trade . . .

Yet in making the concession to special pacts the late Department was at times on record to predict its ends to that extent, favored of trade-at an up-to-word. The first agreement with Cuba provided for preferential tariffs for that country in the East Canada and the products of each country received concessions was not placed.

Now Secretary Hull is opposed in broad terms of a bi-lateral note. He vigorously opposed Mr. Peek's proposal to barter cotton with Germany. The difference now is that that trade does not bring with Great Britain. The Netherlands and Belgium and certainly not with the totalitarian countries.

It seemed for surplus cotton and wheat it is proposed to exchange materials needed in national defense, such as rubber and tin.

Approval this departure from the ex is justified on the ground [illegible] Mr. Hull stressed the possibility of a stipulation that such bartered materials be held as reserves for war emergencies with the idea of withholding them from commercial markets.

Secretary Wallace is said to favor rather than Mr. Hull from the [illegible] position which they [illegible] by defeated against Mr. Peek [illegible] years ago.

Doubtless Mr. Peek [illegible] opposition will [illegible] but how [illegible] debates have arisen. Perhaps Mr. Peek's preference for the other hand will be disregarded [illegible] that his great crime was [illegible] by a few years ahead [illegible] position in the Cabinet.

Stabilization Bill Approved

WASHINGTON, April 21 (INS)—A bill stabilizing fund designed to [illegible] Continuation of the $2,000,000,000 enable the United States to protect its currency against foreign [illegible] that [illegible] was initiated at [illegible] by the House today.

Provisions of the Senate-revised [illegible] the stabilization fund were passed in consideration of [illegible] in a Republican effort to [illegible] a new administration [illegible] to [illegible] a new fund plan was rejected.

The House approved an amendment requiring the Secretary of the Treasury to make a report to Congress on operation of the stabilization fund [illegible] 180 to 97, an amendment of Representative Lee Reed R. of Illinois to require an audit by the general accounting office.

But Reed, [illegible] only [illegible] to [illegible] President Roosevelt [illegible] to devote the debate [illegible] Ben Lane (R., Mass.) [illegible] [illegible] an amendment to require the [illegible] devaluation [illegible] Hoop [illegible].

"My amendment," he said, "goes to the very heart of the whole question. The question is: Are we to be held in fear for two more years? There has been no indication from the President that he intends to further devalue the dollar. There was no testimony before the Coinage committee that he will.

"But the problem here is one of psychology. Business is afraid. Here is a chance to help the President revive business by removing this source of fear."

Austen Lake:

Success Story; Louis Sets $1,000,000 Goal

THERE IS NOTHING REMARKABLE IN THE ambition expressed by Joe Louis, the champion chin-buster, to clear a million dollars by the end of next year and then retire to a life of cozy ease. Such is the dream of 120,000,000 other Americans regardless of sex or color.

AUSTIN LAKE

In less tax ridden times Louis would already have his million.

Well, it has been a long time since the sport business produced a millionaire and, for that matter it has, within my recollection, produced only three during the so-called Golden Decade when people were paying $50 to see a pair of perfect strangers peck and dab each other on the nose. There were, of course, two prize fighters, Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, and one ball player, Babe Ruth, each of whom came up as nonentities from what President Roosevelt has termed "the windy wastes of nowhere." But, contrary to Louis', the three had the good luck to mature when people just could not realize that this was real money they were spending and one and all were seeking ways to have a year's fun in a week's time.

At current quotations Louis has made three-quarters of a million—give or take a few kopeks, in a matter of forty fights. But he had the misfortune, if one stretches imagination to the point where it is misfortune for a semi-illiterate cotton picker to scale such heights, of arriving when people are looking long and lovingly at a dollar.

'DOWNS' PRICES CUT FOR DERBY CLASSIC

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 21 (AP)—The fellow with $2 can have a big time for his money at this year's edition of the Kentucky Derby.

Heretofore, the small change enthusiasts of the beating hoofs have had to cough up at least $2 to get inside the huge Churchill Downs enclosure.

with tom-tom bands, hip-shaking mammas and footsy paps. Rose Hill society came in nickeled limousines and hee-yaw-yawed the night away

Joe Bought a Trust Fund

"YES," SAID GENTLEMAN JOHN, "THAT was nearly fatal" For after chores in the upstairs gymnasium, Louis was permitted to drift down and sit, fascinated and bewildered, at some dark shinned celebrities table, saying nothing but looking like a wide-eyed child on his first visit to the circus. Some of the lady theatrical guests, like Ethel Waters, would rise and shake meaty jiggles and wail a Blues tune above Joe's kinky noggin. Or a dark town composer like Cab Calloway, would roar a jungle lyric with Joe for his theme.

So, after Schmeling administered his anesthesia, Joe's body masters determined that they would never expose their golden goose to such softening influences again. They never have! "It was terrible," said Gentleman John with a shudder, adding that Louis' first $400,000 had been locked in a trust fund which would net him an annual pension of $25,000 a year after the age of 45. Now 25 he has, maybe two more years to amass his million before the first frost of physical decline sets in. But a million is a lot of funds, even in the sport business when the boom was roaring, and of the three competitors who made theirs, I believe that Tunney is the only one who still has it. The fault with a million is that it constantly shrinks and like an automobile battery, has to be constantly recharged

Meade Is Rated As Top Rider

Don Ready for 'Gansett Opening

DON MEADE WILL be out there trying to boot in winners when Narragansett Park opens the New England racing season tomorrow afternoon.

"Meade rode well in Florida, and should continue to do so during the New England racing season," Dave Wilson told me. "Don is a good rider, and with the proper mounts will make a creditable showing at Narragansett Park and at the other New England tracks."

It must be a thrill for Meade to know that he can once more ride again on any of the major tracks. Following his suspension in Florida for wagering on horses other than the ones he was riding, it looked as if Don would never have his leg up again on a thoroughbred in a big race.

Meade waited patiently until he thought he had been punished enough, and then made his fight for reinstatement and won. Since then he has been winning in important races.

When Meade started his comeback in Florida last Winter he had the sympathy of other jockeys. Rival jockeys didn't try to cut Meade's horse off or bump Don's mount around in the rush through the stretch.

After Meade became a sensation, he met with considerable opposition from other jockeys. Efforts were made to stop the Meade run of victories and they proved partly successful.

Meade's genius as a rider then came to his assistance. He sent his thoroughbreds shooting through small holes, took them around the field at opportune moments of a race and came up with his share of victories.

Don is now riding without any of the pressure that surrounded him when he started his comeback. He will be aboard Special Delivery in the six-furlong feature at Narragansett Park tomorrow and believes he has a good chance to come down ahead of the field.

JOCKEY DON MEADE

I do not believe it will be necessary for Stewards Tom Thorp, Frank Bryan and Sam Nuchols to give any special attention to Meade at the Narragansett Park meeting. Don has found out that the best way to succeed is to follow the straight and narrow path. He will try to continue to give his answer to his critics by boating in his share of winners.

Everybody Has New Betting System

RACE GOERS have figured out new systems for beating the races, and they will give their ideas a workout at Narragansett Park tomorrow afternoon. It is still possible to beat a race or maybe two races, but nobody yet has been able to beat the races. This will not prevent the boys and girls from trying to do so.

Those persons who make money following the races are usually spot betters. They wait for a race where they find a solid horse running against an ordinary field. The old percentage is then very much in their favor.

When I go to the track I usually bet eight races like most other racegoers. I try to protect myself by limiting the amount of money I can lose if I come up with eight losers. If one can look upon a day's losses at the races as one does at a night club check and class it under amusement, it is less painful.

I know some show bettors who do all right for themselves. They limit themselves to three and four-horse show parlays. When one tries to click with eight-horse show parlays one usually ends up with trouble.

Billy Delaney, in charge of the Stevens interests in New England, likes to take a whirl at 12-horse show parlays, and consoles himself with the thought one of them once came in for him. Billy gets his fun out of making his selections the night before the races.

1200 Horses at Narragansett

RACING SECRETARY Bob Shelley announces there will be 1200 horses at Narragansett Park by post time tomorrow. Bob has not had any difficulty getting sufficient horses for the 19-day meeting.

Most of the better racing stables are on friendly terms with Shelley and with Judge James E. Dooley and they will ship to Narragansett Park. The thoroughbreds often don't show as good form in the Spring as they will later in the year, but those that start will be in the best condition it is possible for them to get into at this early stage of the season.

CUP THREAT

Britain Up To Polo Par

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP) — Couriers continue to arrive every few days from the west, flinging themselves from their lathered ponies to shout that the British are coming and to warn the American polo set that the international matches at Meadowbrook next month are going to be hotter than a branding iron.

The relay of polo Paul Reveres is necessary, because for 25 years there have been nothing but false alarms.

Tommy Hitchcock and his fellow defenders of American polo supremacy have grown so accustomed to these wild rumors about the Redcoats that they are difficult to rouse by ordinary means.

ROUGH AND TOUGH

But this time it seems to be on the level. The British, after months of quiet practice out on the coast, really are coming east with a polo team. From every account, they have both the players and the horses.

Further, say our informants, the invaders are showing no symptoms of the famous "amateur spirit" which is supposed to animate all British sports endeavors and which has proved such a serious handicap to John Bull's athletes on past occasions.

Why, declare the alarmists, these polo players are acting just like Americans.

This evidently is a threat not to be dismissed lightly.

They have three cracking good players in Gerald Balding, Eric Tyrrell-Martin and Bob Skene, the last a newcomer from Australia who has been so impressive in practice matches that he already is being conceded a nine-goal rating by next year.

PONIES FAST, TOO

All except Skene have played so much on this side in recent seasons that they are thoroughly adept at the "American style" game, which in the last decade has borrowed important features from football and ice hockey, as well as free-style wrestling.

Skene, from all accounts, is catching on remarkably fast and by June will be ready to risk his neck against any man's.

What is perhaps even more important, this British delegation does not expect to be out-mounted. Its ponies have been more than holding their own against all comers on the coast. They are of the best Argentine and Indian stock, and there are plenty of them.

This will be a genuine novelty for a British team. Not since they last beat us back in 1914 have the invaders been able to play on equal terms in this respect.

Yacht Star Wagon First to Cross Line

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 21 (AP)—In the best race the series has furnished in years, Herman Whiton's six-meter sloop Star Wagon, from the Long Island Sound fleet, crossed the finish line the winner by eight seconds in the third of four international races for the Prince of Wales Cup.

The first five of the seven starters finished within 22 seconds of each other. Bert Darrell's Achilles and the Trimingham brothers' Solenta, both of Bermuda, raced a dead heat for second place. George Nichols' Goose, U. S. craft which won yesterday, was fourth to retain the lead in the series with 16¼ points.

Lee Meets Blair In N. Y. Comeback

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—Glen Lee, durable middleweight from Edison, Neb., returns to New York tonight for the first time in almost a year when he meets Frankie Blair of Camden, N. J., in a ten-round bout at the Hippodrome.

In his last showing here Lee outpointed Solly Krieger, since become the N. B. A. 160-pound champion, and before that gave Fred Apostoli, titleholder in California and New York, two tough scraps. He is favored over Blair.

RED BURMAN TOMMY FARR

FARR WINS—Believe it or not, Tommy Farr, who couldn't win a fight in this country, defeated Red Burman, Jack Dempsey's protege, in Harringay Arena, London. Despite his losing U. S. record, Farr gave Joe Louis all he could handle for 15 rounds.

Yates Sails For Britain

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—Charley Yates of Atlanta and "Trailer Bill" Holt of Syracuse, N. Y., sailed on the Queen Mary today for England, where Yates will defend his British amateur golf championship May 22-27 at Hoylake.

Yates and Holt form the vanguard of a six-man American invasion.

Willie Turnesa, holder of the U. S. amateur crown, had been expected to play at Hoylake, but Willie definitely decided not to compete. Instead, he submitted his entry for the U. S. open at Philadelphia June 8-10.

Park Deadline Tomorrow at Noon

Leagues Director William M. Mullen announces that all teams contemplating entry in a Boston Park Baseball League must have their entries and team rosters submitted to the recreation office, 440 Park drive, by tomorrow at noon.

Huskies Play B. C. Tomorrow

Emanuel "Foxy" Flumere of Natick, veteran second sacker will return to the Northeastern line-up tomorrow, when the Huskies face Bostonn College at Newton. A bad cold kept Flumere out of the first two games.

The Natick boy has had plenty of baseball experience. Two years ago he led the suburban twi-league in batting, and he is expected to be one of the most potent hitters on Coach Herb Gallagher's club.

The return of Flumere means that Chunky Alex Struzziero will be moved over to second base and probably be planted in the outfield. Struzziero was one of the leading stickers in the slugfest with American International last Monday, and it is probable that Coach Gallagher will find a spot for him.

Since the game with Tufts was rained out on the holiday the Huskies have three pitchers available. It is likely that Gallagher will divide the assignment among Charlie Foster of Lynn, Garnet Gibson of Salem, and Dave Gerry.

OLD MAN MOSE AIN'T DEAD . . . Moses "Lefty" Grove made the Red Sox a real pennant contender even though the Yanks beat the Red Sox 2 to 0. The mystery man of baseball held the clouting Yankees to seven scattered hits and gave one of the finest exhibitions of pitching seen at this time of the year in the Yankee Stadium. Manager Joe Cronin, though not elated over the loss, was tickled with the performance of the veteran who is the difference between an "also ran" and a pennant winner. Red Rolfe is at bat.

Name Bagby To Pitch Sox Opener

Yale's collegians bettered them in hitting at New Haven.

And in their first and only showing of the 1939 American League campaign they fell far short of the hitting and backing so richly deserved by Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove who, at 39, turned in one of his most spectacular pitching efforts.

That the Hose lost 2-0 to the Yankees, the team picked by most of the experts to pull out with a fourth straight pennant, in no way can be traceable to the Lonaconing wonder.

Bob Grove produced a smart and brilliant performance as he limited the famed sluggers to seven hits, one earned run and one unearned, yet dropped the decision because his team mates lacked the punch to shove over the markers.

There was no evidence of the mysterious arm ailment which sent Grove's arm "dead" a year ago. There was no lameness. The ancient wing came through the major ordeal in perfect condition and once again gives rise to the longing hope that Grove has again come back, that perhaps he might still startle the world of baseball with a 20-victory record.

Bill Dickey's pokey homer into the chummy right field stands, a trifling blow of 300 feet, which would have been a routine putout in any other ball park, was Robert's lone mistake of the afternoon. An error paved the way for the second and unneeded counter later.

Big Charlie Ruffing happened to be in one of his best pitching moods and matched Grove's superb offerings. He handcuffed the mighty Sox power when danger threatened. In fact, the Bostons had at least one man on in every inning, never advanced one as far as third base but left runs stranded, much to the distress of a large part of the 30,000 spectators, who strangely enough were rooting with right good might and will, not for their own Yankees, not for the Red Sox, either, but for Grove, the "grand old man of baseball."

RATES GULDAHL EQUAL OF JONES

NEW YORK, April 21 (INS)—Ralph Guldahl, the tall and robust Norwegian from Dallas, is as good a golfer today as Bobby Jones ever was and a better one than Walter Hagen.

Through the next few years it is going to be a question of who can beat Guldahl rather than the rest of the field, from the way he has been going in the last couple of semesters in major competition.

Mechanically, he is well nigh sound in every respect; temperamentally he is perfect.

This combination of attributes is most evident when the chips are down. He is a terrific money player.

The foregoing summation on the most-talked-about golfer of the moment comes from Mr. Innis Brown, who has been following the game so long that he is as much a part of it as the clubhouse alibi and the putt that didn't sink.

SAW THEM ALL

He watched Jones and Hagen at their best, trudging many a weary mile behind them when they were the top hands, and he doesn't see where they or anybody else could be given an edge over the big Texan who in June will attempt to win his third straight national open championship.

"It will be Guldahl against the field at Philadelphia in June, and you can bet on that," Mr. Brown said today.

"He may not win, for, after all, only one man in the history of the tournament ever clicked three times straight, and that was back in the early 1900's, when the competition was less exacting. But Guldahl will be at or close to the front when the final round is played.

"He is the one they will have to watch — and keep right on watching until he makes his last shot."

Mr. Brown, a reformed writer on golf and kindred subjects and a constant fan and student of the game, remembers well what Guldahl did at Detroit in 1937 and at Denver last year, winning both times.

MacFayden Opposes Melton in Gotham

By JOE CASHMAN

NEW YORK, April 21—Boston's National League leading Bees pinned their faith on the rubber right arm of Deacon Danny MacFayden as they prepared to meet Bill Terry's Giants at the Polo Grounds today.

The Men of Stengel, opening their first road trip of the new season, were buoyed by their fine get-away, with victories on successive days over the Phillies at the Beehive.

Cliff Melton was the righthander selected by Terry to stop the flying Bees.

But MacFayden, whose pitching arm appears to be entirely back to normal after showing up with a slight lameness during spring training, had different ideas.

Last year the old Somerville all-scholastic came up with a startling early season record, losing only one game of ten, and hanging way up front in the national League pitching race until laid low with a broken bone in his hurling hand, result of stopping a savage liner.

DANNY MacFAYDEN

FETTE BRILLIANT

At that Danny would have to turn in a masterful performance to better the pitching effort produced by Lou Fette in the Beehive finale.

Eddie Miller

Lou not only shut out the Phillies, 2-0, but held them to three hits, one of them of the very dubious variety. It was a little pop over third base by the Phils' Mueller, a dinky thing which belonged to Garms, but in a mix-up of signals was played by Eddie Miller who had come way over.

Miller lost the ball at first, then made a stab for it and the ball bounced out of his hand. The scorers generously ruled it a single.

Arnovich and Powers turned in singles, which were the only honest-to-goodness Phil socks of the afternoon. Fette kept that ball around their knees all afternoon long and the visiting firemen were helpless, as shown by the fact that Lou, himself a fine fielder, had eight assists in the day's records.

Only two putouts were credited to the outfield, so capable was he in his initial start of the year.

It was Eddie Miller, however, who was the sensation. The Kansas City importation more than lived up to his advance notices when he lashed out a savage blow of the left centerfield fence, which rescued Al Simmons from second with what proved the game's winning run—and then came through with as pretty a piece of fielding as will be seen in the home town this year.

Miller robbed Gil Brack of a well deserved bingle. For Brack, batting for Sylvester Johnson in the eighth inning, lashed a vicious liner, a foot off the ground, just to the left of second.

The spectacular Miller, playing deep short, was off like a flash, judging the shot by instinct, threw himself headlong to the ground and stuck out his gloved hand full length to snare it. Only the previous day he had gone in the opposite direction, to his right, for a similar feat.

TONY HELPS CAUSE

Tony Cuccinello kept Miller company with his day's contributions. His spanking single to right chased Deb Garms home with the second run in the eighth inning and his superb play of a hot grounder from the bat of Arnovich was good for the final put out of the game at a dangerous time when Powers was perched on third base, only time a visitor had reached there.

Swedish Matman On Bowser Card

Scandinavian folk in all sections of New England are interested in Cliff Gustafson of Genvick, Minn., 225-pound wrestler who is heading toward Boston and makes his first mat appearance here next Thursday night when he clashes with Frenchy LaRue of France in a preliminary bout of Promoter Paul Bowser's all-star card at the Boston Garden.

Gustafson is quite an athlete having held at one time or other the Big 10 Conference heavyweight wrestling title and the National A. A. U. crown.

In the main event Gus Sonnenberg, already twice champion of the world, will attempt to get in the running for another shot at the title when he opposes Mayes McLain, huge football star from Haskell Indian Institute.
